

modern miracle drugs supports our proposal. Every major group that represents persons with disabilities in our country—individuals who are challenged mentally and physically every single day—supports our proposal. And still, because of the manipulation of the Senate rules, we are denied a full debate and discussion and ultimate resolution as to what this body would say to families of this country on such a matter. It is wrong, and we are going to continue to press our case.

I yield the floor.

Mr. BYRD. Mr. President, will the Senator yield?

Mr. KENNEDY. I am glad to yield.

Mr. BYRD. Mr. President, the distinguished Senator from Massachusetts can always be counted upon to stand up for the things in which he believes. He is constantly supporting legislation that is calculated and dedicated to bring better health care to the American people. I support his Patients' Bill of Rights. "Constancy, thou art the jewel." He is always constant in this efforts.

I have been hearing some ads on the radio, and these ads are talking about the "Kennedy Bill of Rights." I don't recall their ever telling us what is wrong with it. They may have been doing it; I have missed that. But I continually see these ads on the television: "Write your Congressman, write your Senator, write your representative, and urge them to defeat the Kennedy Bill of Rights, the health care bill of rights."

Tell me, has the Senator seen those ads, and what are we talking about?

Mr. KENNEDY. Mr. President, it is very interesting. I have seen those ads, but I believe they are going to be pulled very soon because what has happened, according to the most recent study by Bob Blendon at Harvard and the Kaiser Family Foundation, is that support for our bill has gone up, quite in conflict with the intentions of those who sponsored the ads that have been critical of the Patients' Bill of Rights. And so now the insurance companies and corporations that oppose the Patients' Bill of Rights are reviewing their television strategy because their campaign has had the reverse effect. They are sort of going back to the drawing board.

But quite clearly, as the Senator implies, their ads certainly were not a fair representation of the legislation that we have introduced. As I mentioned, virtually every one of these proposals in our bill has either been suggested by the President's commission—which was bipartisan and reported its recommendations unanimously—as important for all patients, or included in Medicare at the present time and used in protecting our seniors, or have been embraced by the state insurance commissioners—which are the 50 commissioners around this country, Republicans and Democrats—or adopted voluntarily by the HMOs themselves through their trade association.

This legislation reflects the best judgment of those groups that know this issue best. That is why we have a sense of confidence in this legislation. It has the strong support of those professionals who treat families and understand the kinds of protections that are necessary to give the best of health care to American families.

Mr. BYRD. Mr. President, I thank the Senator for enlightening this Senator in response to the question I asked. I again commend him for his unceasing effort in behalf of this legislation, the Patients' Bill of Rights.

Mr. KENNEDY. I thank the Senator.

NATIONAL CANCER AWARENESS

Mr. MURKOWSKI. Mr. President, I rise to address two matters that are of importance to me. The first is the issue of national cancer awareness.

Mr. President, for the next 3 days, hundreds of thousands of cancer survivors, families, care givers, and friends, whose lives have been affected by cancer will join together in this city for an event called "The March: Coming Together to Conquer Cancer."

Yesterday, other Members of this body and I had an opportunity to place a large star on our respective States to represent special persons in our lives who have been touched by cancer.

I had the pleasure and honor on behalf of my wife, Nancy, to place a star on my State of Alaska for the late Judge Lester Gore, my wife's father. He was a remarkable pioneer in our State. In 1912, Judge Gore moved to Juneau after graduating from law school and established an impressive record as a young deputy district attorney. He was recognized in that effort in 1932 by President Hoover's appointment to serve as a Federal judge for the Territory of Alaska, serving the first judicial district in Nome.

In serving as a Federal judge in the far reaches of western Alaska in the aftermath of the gold rush, Judge Gore traveled from village to village hearing various cases and judging on the merits. He used every mode of transportation from dog team to the former cutter Bear, bringing justice to rural Alaska. He was instrumental in both creating legal precedent and shaping the legal history of our State. Later in his career he worked as an attorney in Ketchikan, and died in 1965 of cancer. He had many accomplishments but none more important to me than fathering a daughter, Nancy, who later was good enough to accept my proposal of marriage.

In addition, I was pleased in my own personal case to recognize my mother, who died of cancer, leukemia, in Alaska in 1956, having spent her entire career in the area of education. She was the longest standing sixth grade teacher in Ketchikan, Alaska.

To move on, for more than 20 years now, my wife, Nancy, has worked with Alaskan women to encourage the establishment of a breast cancer center starting in Fairbanks, Alaska. She and a group of women initiated the Breast Cancer Detection Center for the purpose of offering free mammograms to women in the remote areas of Alaska, regardless of their ability to pay. I am proud to say that the center now serves about 2,500 women a year and provided screenings to more than 25,000 Alaska women in 81 villages throughout the State.

To help fund these efforts of the Fairbanks center, each year my wife has sponsored a fishing tournament to raise money for the operation of the facility and to purchase units. Interestingly enough, over the last 5 years they have raised over $1 million in this effort. They now operate a permanent facility in Fairbanks, as well as a mobile mammogram unit that travels the highways of Alaska providing free breast cancer examinations for the women along the highway system. It looks like a big armored car. More recently, they have purchased a smaller unit called Molly. Molly is designed to go in aircraft to fly out to the villages that are not connected by any road, and by river barge down the rivers of the interior.

So I commend those who are responsible for this effort in my State, a group of women who have taken it upon themselves to do something about this disease, this killer disease which affects all of us. It is anticipated that 40 percent of us will get some form of cancer during our lifetimes. We have had a figure of about 1.5 million Americans being diagnosed this year.

Mr. President, I ask my colleagues to join with me in taking part in the activities here in Washington, D.C., with The march, thereby demonstrating our commitment to end cancer forever.

NORTH KOREA MISSILE TEST

Mr. MURKOWSKI. Mr. President, I would like to address one more issue, with the agreement of my colleagues. I see a number of them on the floor—
